ALBANY TO VOTE ON $456,000 BOND ISSUES AT APRIL 8 ELECTION

The Albany city council at Monday night's meeting prepared the way to place bond issues totalling $456,000 before the voters at the April election.

Recreational projects, recommended by the Post War Planning Committee, headed by E. C. Blow, accounted for $280,000.

Streets improvement proposed by City Engineer U. R. Grey, will require $176,000.

In presenting a recommendation for $280,000 in recreational development, Chairman Blow recommended that the sum of $200,000 be used for the construction of a Public Community Center Building as a living war memorial, funds to cover the cost of construction, furnishings and equipment. Blow pointed out that this project was recommended by the Public Community Center War Memorial Committee composed of civic, fraternal, religious and service organizations in a letter dated January 17. The sum of $80,000 was listed as Project 2 for park improvements at Memorial and Terrace Parks.

Project 3 listed by the Post War Planning Committee recommended that $35,000 was needed to purchase a site on the west side of San Pablo Avenue.

Blow said, in making the recommendation in behalf of the Post War Planning Committee, "The time has come when we must recognize that if adequate facilities are to be had we must pay for them, either through taxes or bond issue."

"Albany's Memorial and Terrace Parks are at the point where improvements must be made to prevent further deterioration of these facilities. It has long been recognized that Albany is without an adequate public community center building which would justly serve the youth and adults of our community."

In making the recommendation for street improvement, City Engineer Grey said, "A review of the city's financial structure shows that the city streets cannot be maintained, far less improved, in accordance with present day needs under existing revenues now available."

"It is also clear that the city cannot be supported any more than it is at present by outside agencies, although matching funds may still be obtainable from State or Federal sources."

Grey pointed out that during the last eight years, more than 92 per cent of funds spent for city streets was derived from State or Federal sources and that even this percentage was spent chiefly for engineering, inspection, traffic checking and other services.

"Ten years ago," Grey stated, 51 per cent of subdivided lots were occupied. Today more than 84 per cent is occupied. Yet public facilities to take care of this and future increases have not been taken into consideration."

Grey estimated that $176,000 would be needed to repair and improve city streets. He listed stabilization of foundation along Santa Fe, Portland and Kains Aves., to give the bus route a permanent pavement; widening of Key Route Blvd., on the westerly side, from Solano Ave. to the northerly city limits and surface protection to accommodate traffic. Widening and surface protection of west Solano Ave. and creation of a four lane artery to serve automobile traffic that is "constantly increasing in volume" and the replacement of curbs, sidewalks. City-wide pavement protection of all surfaces of oiled macadam streets in the city, city-wide gutter filling. Rehabilitation of Memorial and Terrace Park, especially as such rehabilitation pertains to adequate drainage and protective fencing.

JOS. J. YOVINO-YOUNG

City Attorney Joseph J. Yovino-Young, of Albany, today announced his candidacy to succeed himself again in that office, at the regular municipal election to be held in Albany, Monday, April 8. In declaring his candidacy, Mr. Young said:

"The City of Albany, though essentially a residential city, is in the center of a vast industrial area which in itself constantly creates the same involved municipal legal problems that confront the large cities neighboring it."

"During the eight years I have served you as your City Attorney, due partly to the impact of war and the great influx of people and industries, the legal problems of the city have of necessity grown beyond the previously purely local aspect of the City Attorney's office. In that period we have had to cope with extensive problems and landmarks of development in municipal, state and federal coordination—we have had problems with great financial interests, for instance the new race track with its subsequent bankruptcy, and the problems involved when it was taken over by, first, the U. S. Army, and later, the U. S. Navy; the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and their attempted closing of the Buchanan Street crossing, which resulted instead in our having them widen and improve the crossing and install double signals; the Key System, and our purchase of the Key Route Boulevard strip of land; the Shipyard Railway running through Albany; the State Highway development; the Federal Housing project with its problem of taxation, in lieu taxes, etc."

"The future likewise will bring many municipal legal problems of more than a purely local aspect, such as further development of railroads, state highways, sewer and sanitary disposals, Federal, State and local development and change in reciprocal taxation, and many others. These are problems an inexperienced person could scarcely hope to adequately cope with, whereas it has been my pleasure to have dealt with the co-operated with our local, county, state and federal officials in the general development of these urgent, legal problems. In so saying, I wish to give our Defense Council, and all who participated in that great work, our city officials, the Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, the service clubs, and all the fraternal organizations who cooperated in the interests of our city problems, due credit."

Albany Only City Not in Mosquito Abatement Dist.

Albany City Council this week took action to place the question as to whether or not the City of Albany should join the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District on the April Election Ballots.

Realizing the danger to health that mosquitos can do, Mrs. Kathie Zahn of Albany was waging in vain a year ago a one-woman campaign to place Albany in the Abatement District.

A petition bearing the signatures of 516 registered voters of Albany asking for annexation into the Abatement District was presented to the city council. However, by unanimous vote, the Albany council tabled the matter in spite of the fact that Mrs. Zahn had the active support of prominent Federal, State and County health authorities and medical leaders.

At present Albany is the only city in the county not connected with the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District.

Quota of Albany Legion Post Gets An Upward Boost

There is consternation in the ranks of Albany Post No. 292 The American Legion in regard to the membership of the post, according to the report given by Mason Layton to the Post Friday evening (Feb. 1). Albany Post had 282 members. In the state record as released by the state department they had Albany post credited with 302 members. In view of Albany post having exceeded its quota of 225 members set by the state department October 20, the state department membership committee upped the Albany quota to 338 members by July 1, 1946. There is no doubt among the members of Albany post that the post membership will go to 350 or more on or before July 1 but this is the first time in the post's history that a quota was raised after it was once set.

The phenomenal growth has posed serious problems as to the facilities of the Albany Memorial Building for post meetings. Members are showing interest in the Post's Fourteenth Annual Smoker dated for March 15.

Now's the Time to Have Your Tires Checked

Dave Lewis, manager of The Tirol Co., 1870 Solano Ave., says that right now is the time for all motorists to go to their regular tire dealer for a casing inspection to determine whether or not their present tires need recapping. The flow of new tires is not nearly large enough, says Mr. Lewis, to take care of the demand and by neglecting his present tires, the motorist may find himself in the embarrassing position of having no recaps and unable to locate new tires. From close observation, Mr. Lewis says that the motoring public has been 100 per cent co-operative during tire rationing and also since tire rationing has ceased and by working out his problems with his tire dealer, the car owner should be able to keep his car rolling until tires become more plentiful.

While the allocation of the new post-war Goodrich L D tire, says Lewis, leaves much to be desired in the way of supply, nevertheless, there are some being received each two weeks at The Tirol Co. and Mr. Lewis invites his customers and friends to come into his tire plant and discuss their tire problems with his well-trained crew of tire men and everything possible will be done to take care of those who are having tire trouble or are looking for quality recapping.

Mr. Lewis also says that a few of the hard-to-get appliances are coming through these days and suggests that anyone who is in need of a new mixer, toaster, refrigerator, washer or radio drop in and get information on delivery dates.

Again, Mr. Lewis wants to thank his many customers and friends for their very fine attitude and helpfulness during the past and present shortage of tires and appliances.

One of Loretta Young's oldest friends is her stand-in, Virginia Griffith. The girls met while both were going to grade school in Los Angeles. Now Virginia has a soft assignment — she works whenever Loretta does, receives a good salary and falls heirless to enough of Loretta's picture costumes to make her wardrobe problem a minor one!

Lew Ayres is returning to the screen in February after an absence of four years in the Army cast as a young psychologist whose knowledge of human uncertainties provides the solution to a highly dramatic mystery. He will be co-starred with Olivia de Havilland in "The Dark Mirror."

Akim Tamiroff was on a short visit to Mexico recently, and while dining out rattled off a sentence in Spanish to the waiter which a friend had helped him memorize in Hollywood. His accent was perfect and the words fell glibly from his tongue, so Akim was at a loss to understand the peculiar look the waiter tossed at him. Until, that is, someone translated his remarks. On the hot and humid night, Tamiroff had told the waiter "Let us not go outside tonight for it is snowing heavily!"

Ernest Maria Remarque's latest — and one of his best — books is "Arch of Triumph," which has, incidentally, been named the February selection for the Book of the Month Club. It is a brooding, bitter book skillfully written, and one the entire country should read for a better understanding of an almost incredible world.

"So You Want to Lead a Band," the feature with which Sammy Kaye has been regaling theatre audiences for the past four years, is now available to a much larger audience, now that the swing and swayer is broadcasting it Wednesday nights at 9:30 EST on ABC. One of the more amusing ideas for the public consumption, Sammy selects four would-be bandleaders from the studio audience, and gives each an opportunity to lead his famous swing and sway band. The resultant rhythm (the musicians follow the tyro's baton movements scrupulously) is something you really have to hear to appreciate!

RECORD NOTES: In a typical low-down Ellington mood, the Duke presents two originals on his latest Victor release, "The Wonder of You" and "I'm Just a Lucky So-And-So." Bing Crosby continues the trend towards slow melodies with a couple of romantic ballads on the Decca label, "Prove It By the Things You Do" and "Day By Day." Kay Kyser has a nice pairing on Columbia — "I Don't Wanna Do It Alone" and "Slowly."

TO THE CITIZENS OF ALBANY

In recent weeks, rumors have been circulated that plans were being made to build a slaughter house on San Pablo Ave. THESE RUMORS ARE ABSOLUTELY FALSE.

In an endeavor to clarify the recommendation of the Park Planning and Zoning Commission that Ordinance No. 548 (The permitting of wholesale establishments on San Pablo Ave., from Portland Ave. north, to the County Line) be adopted, and the subsequent passage of this ordinance by the City Council, may the following facts be submitted:

On December 17, 1945, an application was presented to the Zoning Commission for the erection of a building between Garfield and Portland Avenues, to be used for a meat jobbing business. The Commission classed this business as "wholesale," and requested time to consider the application. An extensive survey of the area concerned was made, and these facts were brought to light.

This was definitely not a retail district, and very little development of this type could be expected.

It would be better to have controlled wholesale, and the revenue it would bring the City, than idle property.

There had already been several spot zonings made in this area. Spot Zoning was undesirable because it provided little restrictions as to the type of business, or the building to house it.

That court test cases could uphold applications for spot zoning, over protests, in an area where they had already been permitted, for not to do so, would be discriminating.

In view of these findings, the Planning and Zoning Commission felt that the best control they could exercise over this area, would be to draft a new ordinance, No. 548, and embody into it, all the requirements necessary to maintain a desirable and attractive business section.

On January 7, 1946, the Planning and Zoning Commission voted unanimously, to draft this new ordinance. This was done, and presented to the City Council on January 14, 1946. Final passage of the ordinance was effected on February 4, 1946.

Therefore, since the authority to grant or deny a business building permit still rests with the Planning and Zoning Commission, and because the new ordinance states that no business may be allowed, "which may constitute a nuisance, or which may be noxious or offensive by reason of emission of odor, dust, smoke, gas, or noise, annoying to, or detrimental to adjacent properties," the citizens of Albany may rest assured that there will be no slaughter house or any other type of objectionable business permitted.

Fashions IN HOLLYWOOD

By BERTIE NICHOLS

A BLACK AND WHITE check is ANN TOBIN'S choice for mid-winter wear. It's a casual wool dress with a nipped-in waistline, full gathered skirt and the new rounded shoulders—the turned back cuffs and front binding are of black bengaline. Ann, who makes frequent appearances on NBC's "Cavalcade of America," carries a black over-the-shoulder handbag and wears short black gloves.

WOOL JERSEY is a perennial favorite for this time of year with many of the stars favoring it for luncheon, tea and even dinner gowns. . . . IRENE DUNNE made a striking appearance at the Brown Derby last week wearing a cocoa-brown dress in this fabric with gay yellow and orange nasturtiums printed on the balloon skirt in contrast to the plain cocoa-brown blouse which featured bracelet-length dolman sleeves. The belt was made of braided jersey and pinned to one side with a nasturtium pin of French enamel with a diamond center. . . . NBC's GRACIE ALLEN has a "dinner-at-home" dress of black jersey dramatized with white faille flowers applied on the bodice and skirt is slit at each side and Gracie has a white quilted faille box jacket that she wears over the gown occasionally, making it perfect for restaurant wear. MRS. CARMEN CAVALLARO was seen dashing into Radio City beautifully dressed in a jade green jersey two-piece dress with the skirt softly draped in front and finished with a wide belt and the jacket buttoned up under the chin with shiny gold buttons. Her accessories were brown with baum marten scarfs draped over her shoulders adding luxurious touch.

ANN TOBIN

buttons. Her accessories were brown with baum marten scarfs draped over her shoulders adding luxurious touch.

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK: MARIAN JORDAN, who is heard as "Molly" on NBC's Fibber McGee & Molly show, has a solution for those hosiery problems. She says that silk stockings (if you can get them) will last longer if you add a teaspoonful of powdered alum to one quart of your washing water. Be sure to rinse well. Alum adds strength to the silk fibers, preventing runs and prolonging the life of your hosiery.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH

DON'T NEGLECT COLDS
By R. S. WHITTAKER, M.D.

While visiting friends one evening I noticed that one of their children, a boy of seven, was sneezing badly. He was in the early stages of a cold. I was a little horrified that the child was permitted to play with his younger sister, aged 3, and that both children were stuffing themselves with sweets.

Although I was in the house as a guest, not as a physician, I took the liberty of suggesting that the boy be put to bed, that he be kept away from the baby and from an older sister until the cold was better and that he not be allowed to go to school the following day, for his own protection and for the protection of his schoolmates.

The next day I saw Bobby walking down the street to school. I told myself this should be a lesson to me not to give advice when it wasn't asked and made a mental note to watch my step the next time I visited these friends.

It was not long before I visited them again. Only a few days later I received a call to come to their home—professionally this time. All three children were ill. Both Bobby and Betsy, the oldest child, had had colds with fever. Nancy, the baby had a cold and was complaining that her ears hurt.

My chief concern was with Nancy. One ear was infected. There was danger the infection would reach the mastoid, a spongy bone behind the ear. If this should happen, the child might die.

When the ear was punctured, we were able to drain off the infection satisfactorily, so it did not penetrate to the mastoid. The child recovered, but it was a long time before she regained her strength and was able to play around like a normal three-year-old.

Meanwhile, both Bobby and Pety had been kept in bed. They lost three weeks from school.

The illnesses of the three children and the anxiety of their parents might have been avoided if a few precautions had been taken when Bobby first caught cold.

Common as colds are, they should not be neglected. While a cold itself may not be serious, it often so weakens the system that the germs of other diseases get a stronghold in some part of the body. These diseases may cause a great deal of suffering and may endanger life.

Children particularly are apt to develop ear trouble and other serious illnesses after a cold.

What a wonderful thing it is if people thought of the colds they catch cold. If they themselves as much as avoided crowds and really kept from giving their cold people, perhaps the time would come when nobody would catch colds.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA... one of the nation's most abundant sources of electric power

How plentiful power builds markets in the West

More than half of all the hydroelectric power in the United States is produced in the West. This power is clean, abundant, and cheap. It is the backbone of the West's economy. It is the reason for the growth of the West. It is the reason for the prosperity of the West. It is the reason for the future of the West.

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

POWER...to Pace the Future

Electric energy, the "White Coal" of the West, has been an important factor in the challenging growth and prosperity of Northern California. The abundance of this electric power, its widespread distribution at rates among the lowest in the nation, have fostered a live demand for a great diversity of products for the home, farm, factory and business. A dependable supply of hydro-electricity has helped make Northern California one of the richest markets in the Nation.

You, who use electric appliances in your homes and constantly add to this family of mechanical servants, are that market. You buy and use far more electrical appliances than folks elsewhere in the country and you can do so because electricity is convenient and cheap. You, who have farms in Northern California, use more than half of the Nation's entire rural power load. You have complete electric service in your farm home, in the fields and barns. And you, like Northern California business and industry, use electricity to help lower your production costs.

Low cost electric power, and lots of it, has been a builder of markets in Northern California. It took the heavy demands of wartime industries in stride and is ready now to pace the future.

This is the fourth of a series of Pacific Gas and Electric Company advertisements to attract new industry to Northern California. It will appear in Time and the Saturday Evening Post.
